EfM Looking for New Members

The EfM (Education for Ministry) Program is a theological education program from the School of Theology at the University of the South in Sewanee, Tennessee. It is a four year program which encompasses study of the Old Testament, New Testament, and church history and theology. Each student is responsible for his or her own learning and our group meets for two hours once a week with Jim Kimbrough, a trained mentor, to discuss, reflect and worship together. The current group is looking for new members to join us next September. There is a charge for this program, but scholarships are available. Please speak to Sara Hellard or Ned and Sara Meekins if you would like more information - or join us at 5:00 on Tuesday, May 1 or 8 in the church library to see what we are doing!

The word “Anglicanism” has been changed. It seems to be used today to defend or promote a certain stand on issues. 'Authentic Anglicanism', the Anglican Historic faith', 'Faithful Biblical Anglicanism', and 'Authentic Historical Christianity' are just some of the phrases that abound in people’s language when defending or promoting a theological position. It is important to remember that the roots of Anglicanism began in the 13th century and extended over a 400 year period that slowly eroded the power of the Church of Rome over the people of Britain. It began with the signing of the Magna Carta, the first bill of rights for the people. It ended in the reign of Elizabeth 1 when the Church of England was finally excommunicated from the Church of Rome.

... in the History of Anglicanism, we have found those who supported biblically the slave trade...

When Britain built its empire, the natural religion that it brought with it was the Church of England. In countries that were given back their independence, and in countries that fought and won their independence, the faith taught by the Anglicans continued. Unlike the Church of Rome with a central authority, these churches with Anglican roots all adopted their own constitutions and worship practices. A loose affiliation with one another is expressed in a meeting of all Bishops every 10 years at Lambeth. Lambeth is not a legislative meeting but a fellowship that shares a common heritage and a particular way of respecting each other’s mission and ministries. It is clear from many national churches with Anglican heritage, as stated in the preface to their prayer books that autonomy, and therefore differences in each church are acceptable. (BCPp.9) Differences in the churches of the world wide communion have always been acceptable until recently. Boundaries of dioceses have never been violated until recently. Accusations of being unbiblical have not been uncommon, but the unity of the Anglican Communion has remained steadfast until recently. The word Anglicanism now is a word of polarization, not unity. Exclusion not inclusion, judgment not acceptance. All based on words like faithful biblical Anglicanism, authentic Anglicanism, etc. But let us remember...In the history of Anglicanism, we have found those who supported biblically the slave trade. We have found those who have supported biblically that women are second class citizens. We have found those who have supported biblically that divorced people do not get a second chance at marriage. We have found those who have supported biblically that people of different color are to be treated less than human. In the history of Anglicanism, authenticity has always been something that has come through struggle, through a few believing that to be faithful to Christ changes had to be made in how we treat one another. That what had always been considered the norm, God moved some to say it was not.

I am deeply grateful that I worship in a church that, far from perfect, has always been at the forefront in times of struggle with biblical issues, and has championed the issues of justice, dignity, equality, and love. A church that, far from moving away from Anglicanism, has embraced the best of Anglicanism.

With all my love and prayers, your friend,

Fr. Alan

The View

from the Bench

My choir hears me say all the time that I do not believe in giving away the store. What this means is that, although we have had Easter Day, the joyful celebration is not over. The Rector has reminded us that we are an Easter people, an “Alleluia!” people. We will continue to contribute joyful music throughout the Easter season. Music does not always have to be loud and rhythmic to be joyful celebration. It can achieve the same feeling in a quiet and contemplative way as well. We have just passed the Fourth Sunday in Easter, which is commonly known as “Good Shepherd” Sunday, because the readings are all framed around the concept of Christ as the Good Shepherd. One of my favorite anthems that fits for that Sunday is “Christ hath a garden” by Gerald Near, who is a composer now living in retirement in New Mexico. Most of his music requires resources that we do not have, but this is one that is accessible to almost everyone. About a year ago, I was searching the Choral Public Domain Library, which is an online resource for choral music. I happened to find an anthem by Charles Villiers Stanford, one of the founders of the Anglican Revival in church music in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. It is titled “Why seek ye the living among the dead?” I can only describe this as an Edwardian romp, and it will serve to remind us that we are continuing to celebrate. We will be celebrating further with Choral Evensong on May 13, featuring the music of Stanford, Harrison Oxley, and others, as well as with an Ascension Day service, which will feature the Mass for Three Voices by William Byrd. All of this will culminate in Pentecost Sunday, when we will have a Choral Eucharist at the 9:00 service, featuring the Third Communion Service by George Oldroyd. Some of the long-time communicants may have some memory of this service, as it was commonly used at St. John’s for several decades.

Pentecost Sunday further reminds us that the celebration, or the work of the Church, is not over. It has always bothered me that Pentecost Sunday, or Whitsunday as we used to call it in the old days, gets third place among the three days of obligation. I suppose it is because there is not a holiday that touches us deeply associated with it. On Pentecost Sunday, we remember what is effectively the birthday of the Church, and we are charged to spread the Word just as the Apostles were. It is as festive as Christmas and Easter Day, and it also has unique hymnody that we get to sing only once a year. Pentecost is a major holiday in Europe. Although most people don’t go to church anymore, the observance is important enough that businesses are usually closed on the Friday before and the Monday after Pentecost Sunday. I had the good fortune to be in Leipzig, Germany, on Pentecost Sunday in 1991. I got up Sunday morning and went to the St. Thomas Church, where J.S. Bach spent the last 30 years of his life and career. What I got was an experience I will never forget, especially the performance of Bach’s Pentecost cantata, “O ewiges Feuer, O Ursprung der Liebe,” which translates as “O eternal fire, O fountain of love.” It was incredibly inspiring, and the message was woven into the pastor’s sermon. We are commissioned to take that joy and love into the world, to be on fire and take that fire to others. Be inspired and inspire.

Kentucky Poet Laureate— Jane Vance

On April 24th at 10:00 a.m. the Kentucky Arts Council honored Versailles’s native Jane Vance with a Poet Laureate Induction Ceremony in the Capitol Rotunda. Jane Vance is Kentucky Poet Laureate 2007-2008.

A group of folks left from St. John’s at 9:00 a.m. to attend the ceremony and reception that followed.

Annual Women's Weekend 2007

(Formerly known as The Women's Retreat) Sponsored by the Episcopal Church Women of the Diocese of Lexington & open to all women.

Friday, May 18th ~ Sunday, May 20th

Optional Silent Retreat or Free Day 3:00 pm Thurs., May 17th through 3:00pm Fri., May 18th.

Organized program begins with Check-in and Social Time 4pm Friday, May 18th. Supper at 6:00pm.

The Annual Women's Weekend of the Episcopal Diocese of Lexington will be held at the beautiful Cathedral Domain. Our Meditation Leader, the Rt. Rev. Stacy Sauls, Bishop of the Diocese of Lexington, will offer a series of meditations on an as yet to be determined topic that will no doubt offer new insight and understanding to strengthen our faith. The fabulous Candace Armstrong will be our Music Director for the weekend and the always-illuminating Rev. Marcia Hunter is returning as Chaplain. There will be numerous opportunities for fun and fellowship during the weekend, but if you prefer a more solitary retreat your privacy will be respected and there will be areas set aside for silence for the duration of the weekend. There will be time to do whatever you need to do to make the weekend meaningful and restorative for you personally. The organized retreat begins Friday evening, but an extra "day on your own" at the Domain, May 17th, is available for only the cost of lodging that night (remember: no meals will be served until 6pm Friday so bring snacks or plan to go into Irvine or Beattyville). There will be a healing service Saturday evening, condensed Cathedral Bookstore, Sunday Eucharist, and probably a few surprises. Do yourself a favor and allow your spirit to be replenished in this wonderful weekend of learning, sharing fellowship, and soaking in the beauty and serenity of God's holy mountain.

For more information call Lisa Hawkins (859-858-0041 / 859-338-3012) or email lisahawk@hughes.net

Of Pentecost

On May 27th we will gather and celebrate the feast of Pentecost. The feast of Pentecost is a Jewish feast that is described in Leviticus 23:15-22, after the feast of the First Fruits. During the feast of the First Fruits thanks were offered to God for the first crop ready to harvest. The first fruits of the crop were brought to the Priest, who waved it before the Lord in thanksgiving.

Fifty days later, after all the harvest was gathered, the bread made from the crop was brought and offered to God, and sacrifices were made. This was the feast of Pentecost. In our Christian faith, Pentecost occurs 50 days after the resurrection of Christ. It is Christ who is the first fruit of resurrection. He is the first and promises the same resurrection to all who believe in Him. The Christian feast of Pentecost is a time when we all look back and celebrate the first disciples being filled with the Holy Spirit and being given the power and the confidence to proclaim the gospel, the good news, the saving message of Christ.

Christ was the first fruit, and the disciples were the first Pentecostal people 'made' by the Holy Spirit. Something was 'made' because of Christ's resurrection, and that was the Church. The Church was born on the Christian feast of Pentecost, and that is why it is often referred to as the Church's birthday.

The Church was born not because of a well-drawn plan.

The Church was born not because of programs, methods of evangelism, or intense studies.

The Church was born not because of any novelties or giveaways, any gimmicks, or any pandering to each and every whim of society.

The Church was born because people were filled with the Holy Spirit. They were on fire with Christ. They had a burning desire to share His gospel, to bring all people back to God, to share the good news of repentance, love, forgiveness, and joy.

The Church that was born on the first Pentecost is the same Church we belong to today. Let us pray that during this season of Pentecost and at all times, God will continue to pour out His Holy Spirit on us, His disciples. Let us also pray that the zeal of the Church, the burning desire of the Church to preach Christ crucified and risen, be strengthened and enriched.

Young Adults Face Book

The Diocese of Lexington Young Adults has developed a face book group to connect young adults for communication, news, events, and fellowship. All Episcopalians and Lutherans ages 18-30 in the diocese are invited to sign up to be part of the Lexington Young Adults; just follow these directions:

1. Sign up for a face book account at www.facebook.com (this is free to anyone who wants to join)
2. Once your account set up, click on the "Groups" link
3. In the "Search for groups" box, type "Lexington Young Adults"
4. We should be the first search result. Click on "Join Group" to be added to the list for upcoming events. Also view our group page for links and more information about us.

ST. JOHN'S WEBSITE REDESIGNED

Check out our newly redesigned website at www.stjohnsky.com. We have many more functions to add in the near future. If there is anything you would like to suggest, correct, or dream about, let Ann Richmond know at richmond@qx.net. It is a work in progress.

We will also be able to have an email address for anyone in the parish who wants one at yourname@stjohnsky.com! It will forward to whatever personal email address you want to use.

If you have photos of parish events that might work for our photo galleries burn them onto a cd and leave it in the Eagle Wings mailbox in the office.

Thanks to Sarah Sandknop for all her programming work in building this website!

CONCERT ANNOUNCEMENT

Champion fiddlers and multi-instrumentalists, Daniel and Amy Carwile celebrate the release of their new recording Col Arco with a performance at St John's Episcopal Church on Friday, June 1st at 8pm. Tickets are $10 general/$5 children and senior. Tickets are available at the door, on the evening of the performance.

The Carwiles' have been heard at the Grand Ole Opry, and throughout the United States, Canada, and the British Isles. They have performed and/or recorded with Sam Bush, Bela Fleck, Alison Krauss, Tim O'Brien, and Mark O'Connor. Their repertoire includes traditional tunes as well as original compositions ranging from bluegrass and old-time to Celtic and swing.

Also performing is solo guitarist, Andrew Leonard. Leonard has been called "a guitar phenomenon" by the Portland Phoenix of Maine, runs the guitar program at the University of Kentucky and teaches children ages 5-12 at St John's through the Childbloom Program of Woodford County.

NEWCOMERS NEED YOU!

The Newcomers Ministry is recruiting new members for this very important and wonderful ministry. A ministry that is simple and requires little time. St. John's is looking for either a chairman or co-chairs for this committee. Here is what is basically needed and new ideas are welcome:

- *Recruit a team of greeters.
- *Add the greeters to the monthly server's schedule. (There are three volunteers already)
- *Make sure that the newcomer/prayer cards are filled in the pews with a sharpened pencil.
- *Keep stocked in the back of the church and in the parish hall brochures about St. John's. (Someone has already volunteered to create the brochure!!)
- *Order and keep filled, St. John's coffee mugs that are given to visitors. Make sure that there are always some mugs at the back of the church prior to Sunday services.

Please contact Vickie Duff or Fr. Sutherland if you would like to either serve on this committee or chair it. Remember, we were all new once...
